Terrorism, Trauma, and Tragedies
A Counselor’s Guide to Preparing and Responding
Third Edition

Edited by Jane Webber and J. Barry Mascari
For Hart and Sherry Webber, who taught us that life is lived in bringing joy to others. We miss your music, your meals, and your love.
For Joe and Doris Mascari whose tenacity keeps us going.
For our grandparents who taught us what it was like to be strangers in a strange land.
Preface ........................................................................... vii
Preface to the First Edition............................................ viii
Acknowledgments .......................................................... ix

Section One
Strategies and Techniques for Disaster Response

1. Advances in Disaster and Trauma Counseling
   J. Barry Mascari & Jane Webber ...................................... 3

2. Understanding and Working with Acute Stress Disorder
   Michael Dubi & Samuel Sanabria ................................... 7

3. EMDR: Resolving Traumatic Memory
   Michael Dubi & Mindi Raggi ........................................... 9

4. Unlocking Traumatic Memory Through Sand Therapy
   Jane Webber, J. Barry Mascari, & Julia Runte ............ 13

5. Providing Disaster Services to Culturally Diverse Survivors
   Carlos Zalaquett, Iraida Carrion, & Herbert Exum ..... 19

6. The Counselor’s Role in International Disaster Response
   Joseph D. Wehrman ................................................... 25

Section Two
Lessons Learned from Hurricane Katrina and Other Disasters

7. Counseling Survivors of Hurricane Katrina
   Barbara Herlihy & Zarus E. Watson .......................... 31

8. Critical Incident Stress Management Following Hurricane Katrina
   Charles Gagnon .......................................................... 37

9. Katrina: Ongoing Trauma, Ongoing Recovery
   Michael Gootee ......................................................... 41

10. The Kat-Rita Trauma: Reflections of a Traumatized Professional
    Walton H. Ehrhardt .................................................. 43

Section Three
Support for Returning Veterans and Their Families

11. Returning Veterans: The Effects of Traumatization
    Michael Rank, Michael Dubi, & Kristen Chandler ....... 49

12. Deployment Counseling: Supporting Military Personnel and Their Families
    David L. Fenell & Joseph D. Wehrman ...................... 53

13. Treating Veterans and Their Families: What Civilian Counselors Need to Know
    David L. Albright & Gayle Rosellini ......................... 59

14. Post Deployment Counseling: Assisting National Guard and Reserve Families with Reintegration
    Joseph D. Wehrman & David L. Fenell ..................... 65

15. The School Counselor’s Role in Supporting Students with Deployed Parents
    Ruth Ann Fenell, David L. Fenell, & Rhonda Williams.. 67

Section Four
Virginia Tech and Other University Tragedies

16. Virginia Tech: A Campus and a Community Respond
    Gerard Lawson, Nancy Bodenhorn, & Laura Welfare.. 73

17. Making Meaning with Memorials
    Nancy Bodenhorn & Gerard Lawson ....................... 79
Contents

18. Pathways to Resilience at Virginia Tech
   Lennis G. Echterling & Anne L. Stewart ......................... 83

19. Lessons Learned From an Employee Assistance
    Counselor
   Wanda Osburn ............................................................ 89

20. Hokie Healing: A Tale of Two Counselor Education
    Students
   Monique Bates & Brandy Smith ..................................... 93

    University Responded
   Debra A. Pender & Jane E. Rheineck ............................. 97

22. Preparing College Faculty to Assist Students After a Traumatic Event
   Carlos Zalaquett ........................................................ 101

Section Five
Responding to School Crises and Tragedies

23. The Best Laid Plans: Will They Work in a Real Crisis?
   J. Barry Mascari & Jane Webber .................................. 107

24. Iraq War, Katrina, Virginia Tech: A Virginia High
    School Responds
   Marie Bullock, Jessica Baith, & Caitlin Rose ................. 113

25. Coping with Death: What School Counselors
    Can Do
   Maureen M. Underwood ............................................. 117

26. Intervening with School Students
    after Terrorist Acts
   Gerald A. Juhnke ..................................................... 121

Section Six
Helping Children Cope with Tragedy

27. Ring around the Rosie: Play Therapy for Traumatized Children
   Jennifer Baggerly .................................................... 127

28. Systematic Trauma Interventions for Children: A 10-Step Protocol
   Jennifer Baggerly .................................................... 131

29. Interventions with Children After the Earthquake in China
   Emily Zeng ............................................................. 137

30. Violence Toward Children in Our Nation’s Capital
    Pat Schwaller-Giddis & Kelli Jones Sannes ..................... 143

31. Children of First Responders: Outreach and Counseling Strategies
    George M. Kapalka .................................................. 149

Section Seven
Self Care for Counselors and First Responders

32. Ground Hero: A Story of Compassion Fatigue after September 11
    Tom Query .............................................................. 155

33. Compassion Fatigue: Our Achilles Heel
    J. Eric Gentry ........................................................ 159

34. Self Care for Disaster Mental Health Workers: Force Health Protection Strategies
    Rob T. Yin & Marjorie Bagwell Kukor ......................... 165

35. The Clearness Committee: A Peer Supervision Model for Trauma and Crisis Counselors
    Michael Dubi & Samuel Sanabria ............................... 169

36. Critical Incident Stress Debriefing and the Process of Crisis Group Work
    Debra A. Pender ..................................................... 173

Section Eight
Current Issues in Disaster Mental Health

37. International Disaster Counseling: Today’s Reflections, Tomorrow’s Needs
    J. Scott Hinkle ....................................................... 179

38. Responding to Pandemics: Preparing Counselors
    J. Barry Mascari & Jane Webber ................................. 185

39. Coping with Financial Crisis
    Steven M. Crimando & Cynthia L. Simeone ................. 189

40. General Standards for Disaster Crisis Counselors
    Karin Jordan .......................................................... 193

41. The Uniform Emergency Volunteer Health Practitioners Act and What It Means to Counselors
    Jackson R. Schonberg ............................................. 197

42. Psychological First Aid: A New Paradigm for Disaster Mental Health
    Jane Webber, J. Barry Mascari, & Julia Runte ............ 201
The American Counseling Association Foundation was honored and pleased to welcome Barry Mascari as co-editor of this new edition of Terrorism, Trauma and Tragedies: A Counselor’s Guide to Preparing and Responding. He joins lead editor Jane Webber who took the second edition to the next level of excellence after the book was first launched following the September 11 terrorist attacks. Together they have assembled an impressive team of 51 contributing authors—each of whom has a unique perspective and specific expertise to share.

This third edition represents an extensive revision over the first two editions and again brings new attention to the field of disaster mental health. With the dramatic increase of tragic events around the world, this book is more timely than ever. The scope has broadened even further than that of the second edition to include the shocking Virginia Tech shooting, the devastating hurricanes in New Orleans and the Gulf Coast region, as well as the ongoing wars in Afghanistan and Iraq and the effects on soldiers and their families.

And, as the manuscript was in the final stages of production, the earthquake in Haiti struck—yet another reminder of the need for resources and training in this field. ACA Foundation Chair Howard Smith, EdD, LPC, was part of a response team of the International Services Department of the American Red Cross that went to Haiti on a special assignment to provide services to American responders who were already in Haiti and those who went immediately after the disaster.

The goal of this edition, like the previous two sold-out editions, remains the same: to share practical strategies and lessons learned from those on the front lines of terrorism, trauma, and tragedies. The sharing of experiences will help to ensure that counseling professionals are well-prepared for the inevitable events that lie ahead.

The ACA Foundation is grateful to Editors Jane Webber and Barry Mascari and all of the contributors who volunteered their time, shared their stories and insights, and opened up their hearts to help those who were in need.

The ACA Foundation
Board of Trustees (2009-2010)
Dr. Howard Smith, Chair
Dr. Courtland Lee, Immediate Past Chair
Dr. Sam Gladding, Chair Elect
Dr. Barbara Herlihy, Member
Dr. Lynn Linde, Ex-Officio Member
Dr. Marcheta Evans, Ex-Officio Member
Mr. Richard Yep, Secretary/Treasurer
Preface to the First Edition

Every book begins with an idea, a thought, or a commitment to communicate something that will be of interest or importance to the reader. This publication, Terrorism, Trauma and Tragedies: A Counselor’s Guide to Preparing and Responding, is no exception.

Conceived as a resource for counselors, teachers, administrators, parents and others, this is a hands-on, practical book that provides useful information and guidance on strategies, techniques, and plans that have worked well. It was not developed as a theoretical or formal text on the root causes of terrorism or tragedy, so much as something that caregivers can pick up and use immediately in their practice with children, adolescents, teens, and adults of all ages who are experiencing the trauma of a tragic event.

This book is a collection of original material, news stories, handouts, and even adaptations of recent conference presentation. As such it includes a variety of writing styles and approaches. In Section 1, for example, you will read straight-from-the-heart moving, personal accounts of counselors who were on the front lines on September 11 and afterward. It is important to hear their stories in their own words.

The Trustees of the American Counseling Association Foundation formulated the idea for this publication shortly after the terrorist attacks. While they had contemplated some type of resource in the wake of school shootings and other tragedies over the past few years, the events of September 11 dictated that the book move into an accelerated production schedule. This is the first book published by the Foundation.

It is the hope of the ACA Foundation that this book will be a resource to helping professionals as they grapple with how best to work with persons who are facing tragic and traumatic events in their lives, indeed in today’s world. Terrorism has become a fact of life in recent months.

The American Counseling Association Foundation (2001-2002)
Jane Webber, Chair
William Cox, Immediate Past Chair
Quincy Moore, Chair-Elect
James Henderson, Trustee
Clemmie Solomon, Trustee-Designate
Jane Goodman, ACA President
David Kaplan, ACA President-Elect
Richard Yep, Secretary/Treasurer
This third edition has been the collaborative effort of 51 authors, and we thank all our colleagues who have contributed to this book. We are grateful to those pioneers whose work guided our journey, especially Tom Query, Steve Crimando, Mike Dubi, Charles Figley, Eric Gentry, Eliana Gil, and Bessel van der Kolk.

Our projects have always been a family experience and we are indebted to our children, Julia Runte, manuscript editor; Matthew Mascari, for the cover design; and Janine Mascari and Chris Runte for their assistance and encouragement to keep doing what we love. We are especially appreciative of continued support from Carol Gernat and Tassie and Don Livingston.

We have been privileged to work with Debra Bass of the American Counseling Association whose skill and wit have kept us on track as this volume evolved through three editions. This book would not be possible without the vision and commitment of the American Counseling Association Foundation to respond to the needs of counselors after September 11.

To our graduate students whom we have the honor and privilege of teaching and whose trauma stories have informed our development as trauma counselors, we are deeply grateful.