It is not only our responsibility to help the men, women and children with whom we come in daily contact but it is imperative to befriend and give hope to those faceless masses who are denied the most basic of human rights. Saving the moral fabric of decent and caring societies depends solely on an impartial application of a single standard of human rights for everyone independent of political factions, ideologies, affectional orientation, or religious creeds. THEREFORE

WHEREAS, The Preamble of the Ethical Standards of the American Counseling Association state that we “... recognize diversity in our society and embrace a cross-cultured approach in support of the worth, dignity, potential, and uniqueness of each individual,” and

WHEREAS, Standard A.2.a. Respecting Diversity - Nondiscrimination, states that we “... do not condone or engage in discrimination based on age, color, culture, disability, ethnic group, gender, race, religion, sexual orientation, marital status, or socioeconomic status,” and

WHEREAS, Standard A.2.b. Respecting Diversity - Respecting Differences, states that “[c]ounselors will actively attempt to understand the diverse cultural backgrounds of the client with whom they work. This includes, but is not limited to, learning how the counselor’s own cultural/ethnic/racial identify impacts her/his values and beliefs about the counseling process,” and

WHEREAS, Standard C.5.a. Public Responsibility - Nondiscrimination, states that “Counselors do not discriminate against clients, students, or supervisees in a manner that has a negative impact based on their age, color, culture, disability, ethnic group, gender, race, religion, sexual orientation, marital status, or socioeconomic status, or for any other reason,” and

WHEREAS, The mission statement of the American Counseling Association states that our stability as an organization is based on social responsibility, and

WHEREAS, The Guidelines for Providers of Psychological Services to Ethnic, Linguistic, and Culturally Diverse Populations (APA), Office of Ethnic Minority Affairs, designates the responsibilities by members in providing culturally relevant services, and

WHEREAS, To safeguard our impartiality and ensure the full protection of human rights for all people, in the event of non-agreement regarding issues of human rights,
